How can you get your money out early?

Depositors can apply to have all or a portion of their term deposits (except Funeral Accounts) repaid prior to maturity by submitting a request to the CDF. A break fee of 1% reduction in interest payable may be charged at our discretion for early withdrawal (subject to no negative interest rate resulting). These Call and Term deposits cannot be sold to anyone else.

Funeral Savings Account

Withdrawals from Funeral accounts are not permitted during the account holder's lifetime except in circumstances of financial hardship.

The CDF, in its sole discretion, may allow funds to be withdrawn from the account for any purpose, if the CDF decides it is reasonable to release the funds taking into consideration the account holder's circumstances.

The CDF does not intend to quote these Debt Securities on a market licensed in New Zealand and there is no other established market for trading them. This means that you may not be able to sell your Debt Securities before the end of their term.

How Debt Securities rank for repayment

On a liquidation of the CDF, your deposit ranks:

- ▶ after all creditors preferred by law (eg: Inland Revenue for unpaid PAYE and employees' holiday entitlements) and any permitted prior security interest (at date of this PDS there are none);
- ▶ equally with all other Debt Securities and debenture stock previously or subsequently issued by CDF under the Trust Deed; and
- ▶ before any unsecured, subordinated Debt Securities.

What assets are these Debt Securities secured against?

The CDF has granted a security interest in favour of Covenant Trustee Services Limited (CTSL), as Supervisor, which secures its payment obligations under the Call and Term deposits. The general security interest is over bonds to a minimum of 1.1 x the value of Debt Securities held in the CDF.

Please also refer to section 5 of this document for further information on this.

Where you can find the CDF's financial information

The financial position and performance of the CDF are essential to an assessment of the CDF's ability to meet its obligations under the Debt Securities. You should also read section 6 of this document.

Key risks affecting this investment

Investments in debt securities have risks. A key risk is that the CDF does not meet its commitments to repay you or pay you interest (credit risk). Section 7 of this document (risks of investing) discusses the main factors that give rise to the risk. You should consider if the credit risk of these debt securities is suitable for you.

The interest rate for these Debt Securities should also reflect the degree of credit risk. In general, higher returns are demanded by investors from businesses with higher risk of defaulting on their commitments. You need to decide whether the offer is fair.

The CDF considers that the most significant risk factor is:

Interest rate margin risk

A significant part of the CDF's income is derived from the margin between what the CDF pays depositors, and what it receives from investments in banks, bonds and loans. The CDF interest rates are reviewed on a regular basis after considering current market conditions, less a CDF sacrificial margin of between 0.87 and 0.90 points.

The CDF's sacrificial interest rate reflects the philanthropic nature of investing in the CDF.

The CDF's deposit interest rates are reviewed monthly or more often on demand.

This risk is mitigated by the guarantee of the Roman Catholic Bishop of Christchurch.

What is the CDF's credit rating?

The CDF does not have a credit rating. The CDF is exempt from the requirement to have its creditworthiness assessed by an approved rating agency. This is because the CDF has been declared under section 14 of the Non-bank Deposit Takers (Declared-out Entities) Regulations 2015 not to be a non-bank deposit taker. This means that the CDF has not received an independent opinion of its capability and willingness to repay its debts from an approved source.

A credit rating is an independent opinion of the capability and willingness of an entity to repay its debts (in other words, its creditworthiness). It is not a guarantee that the financial product being offered is a safe investment. A credit rating should be considered alongside all other relevant information when making an investment decision.

The CDF's creditworthiness has not been assessed by an approved rating agency.

1. Letter from the CDF Chairman

Dear Investor

Since 1967 (almost 50 years at the time of writing this PDS) the Catholic Development Fund (CDF) of the Catholic Diocese of Christchurch has been a vehicle that Catholics and others have used to invest their money and demonstrate their faith at the same time. The CDF pays interest on deposits, with a sacrificial margin reflecting our shared mission.

The CDF's main aim is to assist the Church achieve its mission. Members' funds are used to enable diocesan and parish projects to be completed without our parishes, schools and diocesan groups having to borrow money commercially. More importantly, however, is that the CDF's surplus is used to help the Diocese. The CDF helps the Diocese fund the Pastoral Plan, the Catholic Education Office, the Youth Team, the national seminary, the Prison and Hospital Chaplaincies and any other pastoral priorities that occur from time to time. An investment with the Fund, therefore, can be seen as an ethical one.

A sincere thank you if you are already a CDF depositor and thank you in advance if you are intending to become a first time depositor. All your support is very much appreciated.

Over the past 12 months our team have been working very diligently to transition the CDF to the new regulatory regime under the Financial Markets Conduct Act, the transition came into effect on 1 December 2016. The transition allows the CDF to continue holding 'debt securities', that is, deposits from the public. Christchurch is only one of two diocese's, the other being Hamilton, where these deposits can be held.

The CDF provides an opportunity for followers of Christ to support the diocese, the Catholic Church and the Kingdom of God.

If you believe this is worth supporting and share in our mission, please read the product disclosure statement (PDS) and contact our CDF. You can also view the PDS and the Trust Deed, by visiting the CDF website www.cdf.org.nz or view the NZ Companies Office website www.business.govt.nz/dosclose

Thank you and God bless.

Rob Farrell
Chairman

A copy of the trust deed may be obtained from the Disclose Register at www.business.govt.nz/disclose or by requesting the same directly from the CDF.

3. The CDF and what it does

The CDF is a registered charitable trust and was established in 1967. It is governed by a Board of Trustees, appointed by the Bishop and managed from the Diocesan office.

The CDF offers Call and Term deposits, as well as an opportunity to support the pastoral, educational and religious services of the Church.

The CDF's main aim is to assist the Church achieve its mission. Account holders' funds are used to enable Diocesan and parish projects to be completed without our parishes, schools and Diocesan groups having to borrow money commercially. More importantly, however, is that the CDF's surplus is used to help the Diocese. The CDF helps the Diocese fund the Pastoral Plan, the Catholic Education Office, the Youth Team, the national seminary, the Prison and Hospital Chaplaincies and any other pastoral priorities that occur from time to time.

The CDF offers Call and Term deposits at sacrificial interest rates. Anyone can deposit with the CDF. The CDF offers loans at less than commercial market rates to parishes, schools and Diocesan groups within the Catholic Diocese of Christchurch. Funds not required for lending are invested in accordance with the CDF's treasury policy. The CDF provides a distribution from its net income to the Catholic Diocese of Christchurch which is a significant source of income for the ongoing mission of the Church.

The industry in which we operate

Since 1967, the CDF has been offering Call and Term deposits to the public, and anyone can invest with the CDF. The CDF has been declared under section 14 of the Non-bank Deposit Takers (Declared-out Entities) Regulations 2015 not to be a non-bank deposit taker. We are part of the financial services industry and operate alongside banks and non-bank deposit takers which offer Call and Term deposits.

Key to generating income

The key to our income generation is the differential between interest received from loans and investments and interest paid on Call and Term deposits.

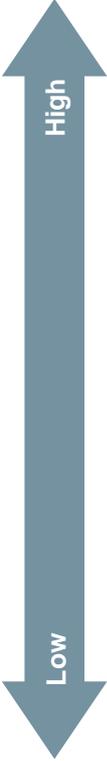

Trustees and senior managers

Information and profiles of trustees and senior managers can be found on the CDF website: www.cdf.org.nz.

Neither the Diocese nor the CDF (including its officers, employees and agents) give financial advice as defined under the Financial Advisers Act 2008. They do not provide advice about the quality of investment of any account held in the CDF or elsewhere. The Diocese and the CDF recommend that you seek financial advice from an independent and registered financial adviser.

4. Key features of Debt Securities

Ranking and security

Ranking	Categories of liability/equity		Indicative Amount (as at 30 September 2015)
	Liabilities that rank in priority to the Debt Securities on a liquidation of the CDF.	CTSL General Security Interest over all payments and after acquired personal property.	Bonds were $31.1m, 302% of Debt Securities held.
		Liabilities preferred by law, including employee entitlements.	$16,561
		Any preferential secured creditors the CDF may have from time to time.
	Liabilities that rank equally with the Debt Securities on a liquidation of the CDF.	Debt Securities, including accrued interest.	$10.3m
	Liabilities that rank below the Debt Securities on a liquidation of the CDF.	Unsecured subordinated liabilities.	$7,193
	Equity.	$4.2m

In the event the CDF becomes insolvent, account holders will not be liable to pay money to any person as a result of the insolvency, it may be likely that there will be claims which have preference by law over Debt Securities. Further account holders may lose the value of their deposits. These are summarised below.

Preferential claims

The claims that would rank ahead of the claims of account holders on the CDF's assets if it were to become insolvent or liquidated are:

- ▶ claims for liquidator's costs, unpaid taxes, certain wages and other amounts payable to employees and other amounts given preference by statute;
- ▶ claims of CTSL and any receiver appointed under the trust deed for unpaid fees and costs;
- ▶ claims of the holders of any prior ranking security interests or charges (see above); and
- ▶ claims given priority under the Personal Property Securities Act 1999, such as purchase money security interests.

There may also be claims of other secured creditors which will rank in priority to or equally with the claims of the Debt Security holders. Any such preferential, or prior or equal ranking, claims will reduce the amount of money available to satisfy the claims of the Debt Security holders.

Prior security interests

The CDF has granted general security only to CTSL over bonds to 1.1x value of Debt Securities held. The general security shall be a general security interest in favour of CTSL over all the present and after acquired property of the CDF.

Guarantees

The Bishop is guarantor in relation to the Call and Term deposits. The guarantee is limited to the extent of Debt Securities issued and interest owing thereon. The guarantee is not secured. The Bishop is not a member of the issuing group but is associated in so far as he appoints the Trustees.

6. Risks of investing

General risks

Your investment is subject to the general risk that we become insolvent and are not able to meet our obligations to you to pay interest and to repay the principal when due under the Call and Term deposits.

In the event we experience significant losses through banks or companies whose bonds that we have invested in becoming insolvent, and/or we experience significant losses through lending, we may not have the funds to meet our obligations to our investors under any Call or Term deposit.

Specific risks relating to the CDF's creditworthiness

Operational risk

Unlike banks or large non-bank deposit takers which may have internal IT specialists, due to its size, the CDF relies on external IT third-party systems and third parties to support its internal systems. In the event of a system failure or degradation, the fact that we do not have internal IT personnel may result in the loss of information or there may be significant delays in recovering information to enable the CDF to complete transactions including payment obligations to account holders. This may increase the risk of default on payment obligations under Call and Term deposits.

This risk is managed by a disaster recovery plan for the CDF which is regularly tested. Both the third party systems and the CDF's internal IT systems are reliably backed up off site.

Another operational risk is staff mistake or fraud. Due to the CDF's size it may not have as many levels of supervision and monitoring as in other large organisations. We maintain insurance for these risks but insurance may not be sufficient to cover all such liabilities. This may increase the risk of default on payment obligations under Call and Term deposits.

To mitigate this risk the CDF applies internal control procedures such as requiring two signatories to approve payments. The CDF is independently audited annually.

Legal and regulatory risk

The CDF is subject to increased regulatory and compliance requirements as a result of coming within the Financial Markets Conduct Act regime, including requirements in relation to capital and risk management. These requirements will represent a significant cost as a proportion of our overall operating expenditure.

The regulatory requirements also require additional human resources to ensure that the CDF complies with them. Due to its current size and staff levels, there may be an increased risk that it does not comply fully with all of the regulatory requirements which apply. This might result in the CDF being sanctioned by the Financial Markets Authority or facing enforcement proceedings and suffering damage to its reputation as a result. This could impact our profitability, and increase the risk of default on our obligations under the Call and Term deposits.

To mitigate these risks the CDF has an internal Compliance Officer and risk management policies and procedures, supported by CTSL, our Diocesan auditor and Diocesan legal advisors.

Liquidity risk

The CDF may not have sufficient liquid (readily 'cashed-up') funds to meet our financial commitments as they fall due.

The CDF's ability to meet its payment obligations to depositors is linked to its investment mix and yields. The maturity profile of investments is matched to the expected maturity profile of depositors' funds to ensure sufficient liquidity to meet payment obligations as they fall due.

Interest rate margin risk

A significant part of the CDF's income is derived from the margin between what the CDF pays depositors, and what it receives from investments in banks, bonds and loans. The CDF interest rates are reviewed on a regular basis after considering current market conditions. The current policy is to set the interest rates by reference to the deposit interest rates of six (6) major New Zealand banks. (ANZ, ASB, BNZ, Kiwibank, SBS, and Westpac). This is done by selecting the average of the interest rates offered in the market by these banks, less a CDF sacrificial margin of between 0.87 and 0.90 points.

The CDF's sacrificial interest rate reflects the philanthropic nature of investing in the CDF. In general, CDF depositors are not seeking a commercial return on their money, but rather an expression of their faith, knowing that their deposits are used to help fund the religious and charitable objectives of the Catholic Bishop of Christchurch.

CDF's deposit interest rates are reviewed monthly or more often on demand.

This risk is mitigated by the guarantee of the Roman Catholic Bishop of Christchurch.

7. Tax

If you are a New Zealand resident you will have resident withholding tax deducted from interest that is payable under the Debt Securities.

There may be other tax consequences from acquiring or disposing of the Debt Securities.

If you have queries relating to the tax consequences of this investment, you should obtain professional advice on those consequences.

The Investment Sub-Committee personnel are referenced on: www.business.govt.nz/disclose and the CDF website: www.cdf.org.nz.

JBWere (NZ) Pty Limited

JBWere (NZ) Pty Limited's responsibility is to invest funds in accordance with the treasury policy.

The current treasury policy is available on the CDF's website www.cdf.org.nz. It specifies portfolio and counter party limits for the CDF's investments.

Reporting to Diocesan Trustee: CTSL
